Week 7 - Art of Digging Empty Wells

First Name and last initial: _____ Date: _____

Welcome to Week 7. During this week your journey takes a turn as you begin to peek at what lies under the carpet. Our responses in life situations often stem from the empty wells we have dug instead of depending upon the Source for life. Invite the Holy Spirit to help you. We must first know what caused us to be in bondage, so that we will know what we are free from and for what we become free.

What is your understanding of the Art of Digging Wells?

What is the key scriptural verse (principle) for this concept

List types of empty wells people create.

Which empty wells do you relate to? List both destructive and non-destructive empty wells. Chocolate is NOT an empty well (I didn't say this! Ha!)

Imagine being free of an empty well and describe how you will feel or act when it no longer has control over you. Post your response in the Road to Freedom Igniters Facebook Group.
